Polly Purvis Tied For Best Actress Award Provincial Drama Festival; Calgary Players Awarded First Place

Calgary Badly in Need of Home For Theatre; Two Cardston Entries Competed; Mrs. Dowdle Tied Mrs. Purvis for Best Actress Award.

Quoting Mrs. Elizabeth Sterling Haynes, the adjudicator, to the effect that this year's plays had been eminently satisfactory in comparison with previous festivals in her experience, members of the Coleman Drama Festival expressed the belief that an auspicious beginning has been made in post-war community drama. A high standard of production has been set, audience interest is keener and more critical than ever before and future entrants will find themselves faced with the necessity of careful choice of plays and players a thorough study of technique and a full knowledge of the art of direction.

"John Doe," entry of Calgary Workshop 14, was awarded first place for an excellent all round production. The other plays, including Cardston's "To Die With A Smile" and "Funeral Flowers For the Bride," and Coleman Players, "The Giants' Stair," have all been seen by Coleman audiences. It need only be remarked that all these productions were considerably improved over the presentations seen here with the additional three weeks polishing they received.

Mrs. Polly Purvis and Mrs. Alice Dowdle shared honors in the best actress award, Mrs. Haynes stating that she found it impossible to decide between the two. Both were awarded silver cups. The best actor went to Frank Glenfield, of Calgary. Individual characterizations throughout were of a high order and coupled with good teamwork and fine direction made this year's revival of the provincial finals an outstanding success.

The Coleman Players agree with

who tied for first place honors with Mrs. Alice Dowdle, of Cardston, for the award of the best actress in the provincial Drama Festival. Mrs. Purvis won the award in the Lions Drama Festival held in Coleman in April.

the adjudicator that with such good theatre in Alberta it is indeed a shame there are no theatres to house it. The finals were played in an auditorium built for and used as a gymnasium. The acoustical qualities are deplorable. Why Calgary audiences should submit to sitting for hours in uncomfortable seats to catch words that can't possibly come much past the footlights is an unfathomable mystery.

If Calgary is sincere in its claims as a cultural centre it will take immediate steps to overcome this handicap to future aspirations. Those who made the trip were Mrs. W. S. Purvis, Miss Edith Hayson, A. E. Graham and Steve Ondrus, of the cast; Mrs. A. E. Graham, director; Miss Edna Morris, prompter; Stuart Murdoch, Herb Hewitt and Joe D'Appollonia, technicians.

ALBERTA MEANS BUSINESS IN WELCOMING THE TOURIST

First tourist conference in Alberta since 1941 has been called for May 16, 17 and 18 in Edmonton. Principal discussion will centre around proposals to license tourist camps and cabins but other subjects will include improvement of standards in service, courtesy and cuisine, co-ordination of community activities and special events, including sports, suggestions for providing educational facilities for resort operators and employees on subjects which affect their business, legislation pertaining to traffic, fishing and hunting laws and so forth, and means of raising funds for local advertising and publicity.

The Publicity and Travel Branch of the Department of Economic Affairs, which is making the arrangements has issued a blanket invitation to transportation companies, oil companies, Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce and all others as well as resort operators to attend and a special request has been made that resolutions pertaining to all phases of the travel industry be sent to the office of the director of the Publicity and Travel Branch, Legislative Building, well in advance of the conference in order that they may be prepared for the agenda. Announcement regarding the principal speakers will be made in the near future.

MAY CHARTER BOAT TO BRING BRIDES TO CANADA

Negotiations to charter a boat to bring brides of Canadian servicemen to Canada from the British Isles and the Continent are now in progress between the Brides' Repeal Committee of Branch No. 24, Canadian Legion, Edmonton, and a New York shipping firm. This was announced this week by J. Harper Provost, Soldiers' Representative in the Alberta Legislature, and chairman of the committee.

A campaign is now being conducted by the committee to get 1,000 men who are willing to put up the price of a ticket for their wives' transportation across the Atlantic. The government authorities are being asked to co-operate by delivering the wives to the boat at a Continental and a British port, and to provide transportation from Montreal to their homes in Canada. They have also been asked to refund an amount equal to the usual cost of bringing brides home by the usual method on government chartered ships.

Men who are interested are asked to write immediately to the Brides' Committee in Edmonton. Full details will be given in a radio broadcast over station CFAC in Calgary on Sunday, May 12, at 10:15 p.m.

Two Coleman Girls Graduate As Nurses

MARY PANEK GRADUATES AS NURSE FROM ST. PAUL'S HOSPITAL

Mary Panek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Panek, was a member of the first post-war graduating class receiving their diplomas as graduate nurses in ceremonies held in St. Paul's hospital, Vancouver, Tuesday evening, April 30.

Mary was born in Coleman, attended the local schools and for a year was stenographer at Coleman Hardware Store before entering St. Paul's hospital as a nurse in training.

Mr. and Mrs. Panek journeyed to Vancouver to attend the graduation exercises and spend a vacation with their daughter.

Mr. W. R. McCall, of Lethbridge, retired on pension at the end of April after 42 years with the CPR, the last years of his service being foreman of the roundhouse at Lethbridge. He is a brother of Mrs. Fred Cox and is expected in Coleman shortly to spend a vacation.

MISS MCINTYRE GRADUATES AS NURSE FROM HOLY CROSS HOSPITAL

Among the graduating nurses from the Holy Cross hospital, Calgary, two weeks ago was Miss Blanche McIntyre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McIntyre.

The graduation exercises were held in the Capitol theatre on Sunday evening, April 28. Prior to entering upon a nursing career Blanche was a member of the staff at the local Canadian Bank of Commerce and prior to that attended the local high school.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre motored to the city to attend the graduation exercises and were accompanied on the trip by Patricia, Clotilda, Charles and Staff Sergeant Jerry McIntyre, of Lethbridge, as well as Mrs. D. F. Fleming, of Blairmore.

Mrs. J. S. Rogers, of Nelson, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Hoggan.

Mr. J. M. Williams has returned to Lethbridge after spending several days with her son, J. A. Williams, and Mrs. Williams.

No Layovers at Nelson or Medicine Hat; Effective June 10

Change is to Benefit Passengers and Express Shipments of Fruit.

(Nelson News)

Effective June 10, the Kettle Valley train will reach Nelson at 6:20 p.m. and leave for Medicine Hat at 7:00 p.m. Times mentioned are Mountain Standard Time.

This will replace the present service under which the train arrives at 8:45 p.m. and lays over in Nelson until 2:30 a.m.

Change in the service has been made with the purpose of enabling passenger and express traffic to reach the Prairies and important Eastern centres about 12 hours earlier than at present.

Fruit shippers will be a major beneficiary. Express fruit from the Okanagan and from Kootenay growers will reach Calgary at 12:15 a.m. instead of 11:30 p.m. and can be delivered to the wholesalers and stores on the day of arrival. The same will apply to Medicine Hat, where the train will arrive at noon. There it will connect with Train No. 2, which leaves for the East at 1:20 p.m., instead of reaching Medicine Hat at 10:30 p.m. where passengers wait until connecting with Train No. 4 which leaves at 1:45 a.m.

Development of the Osoyoos fruit area is adding to the already heavy Okanagan fruit shipments. The CPR recently completed a spur line to move traffic from that district into Pentticon.

Definite information that the changes would go into effect was received yesterday by The Nelson Daily News from George H. Baillie of Winnipeg, General Manager of Western lines of the CPR.

There may be some changes in the details of the new schedule but it will probably be as follows:

Lv. Vancouver 7:15 p.m.
Arr. Grand Forks 1:45 p.m.
Arr. Nelson 6:20 p.m.
Lv. Nelson 7 p.m.
Arr. Creston 10 p.m.
Arr. Cranbrook 12:40 a.m.
Arr. Fernie 4 a.m.
Arr. Coleman 6:30 a.m.
Arr. Macleod 7:45 a.m.
Arr. Lethbridge 8:45 a.m.
Arr. Calgary 12:15 p.m.
Arr. Medicine Hat 1 p.m.

New Mixed Train From Yahnk

No formal announcement has been made as to connections with the Spokane International train at Yahnk, which carries in addition to passengers express loads of fruits and vegetables from the United States, but it is likely that a mixed train will connect with this and carry passengers and express through East Kootenay and to Lethbridge and Calgary on somewhat the same schedule as that of the present eastbound train from Nelson. This will mean two daily passenger and express runs through East Kootenay between Yahnk and Southern Alberta points.

The change in the Kettle Valley and connections east will go into effect June 9 insofar as leaving Vancouver is concerned and affect West Kootenay on June 10 when the train will first reach Nelson at 6:20 p.m.

C. E. Lister, superintendent of the Nelson division and his staff are working out details of the new schedule between Midway and Crows Nest and these details may involve changes in the Arrow Lakes steamer schedule and in the time of the Lardeau-Kootenay Lake steamer run.

Herman Linder to be Arena Director of Coleman Rodeo; To Bring In Top Flight Cowboys

August 3 Date Has Been Confirmed; Local Organizations Swinging Their Support Behind Project.

Herman Linder, world famous cowboy, from Cardston, has been engaged as arena director of Coleman's first annual rodeo which is scheduled to be staged here on Saturday, August 3. This announcement was made Monday morning by the temporary committee who made a special trip to contact Mr. Linder and offer him the job.

Mr. Linder is an ace attraction at the Calgary Stampede each year and four times won the All Round American Championship. In addition he has ridden at New York, Chicago, Boston and London, England. At the present time he is arena manager of the Cardston, Lethbridge, Macleod and now Coleman stampedes.

There will be seven events: Bucking with saddle, bucking bare back, calf roping, steer decorating, steer riding, wild cow milking and wild horse race.

It is planned to stage a carnival in addition to the stampede in order to provide entertainment for the several thousand visitors expected to attend the stampede.

The Journal acknowledges with thanks renewal subscription received from Mrs. Mel. Cousins, of Edmonton.

Canada's Oil Production

THE CURRENT ISSUE of the Canada Year Book contains an interesting and important section dealing with Canadian oil production. While Canada is not at present among those countries which supply a large part of the world's oil requirements, there are possibilities that she may some day occupy a foremost place in that field. Eighty-eight per cent. of the Dominion's total oil supply comes from the province of Alberta, where oil deposits are located in various parts of the province; at Turner Valley, in the Vermilion-Lloydminster area, and in several other districts. For many years the best known and most productive wells were situated in the Turner Valley area, southwest of Calgary. In 1944, over ninety-nine per cent. of the oil produced in Alberta came from that district.

Rich Deposits At McMurray

In the northern part of the province, however, lie what are believed to be the richest oil reserves in the world. These are located in the bituminous sand deposits at Fort McMurray. Canadian geologists estimate the potential output of these deposits at 100,000 million tons, while the United States Bureau of Mines believe that they are capable of producing 250,000 million tons. At present about one barrel of oil is extracted from one ton of the sand. Referring to these deposits, the article in the Canada Year Book says in part: "Their economic value will depend upon many factors, including production at present price levels of United States, Latin American and other Eastern fields." They are, however, a very valuable reserve, and the Alberta government in 1944 arranged for the setting up of an experimental pilot plant for investigating the possibilities of separating the oil from the sand on a commercial basis.

Was Important During The War

As was the case with many other essential commodities, oil took on added importance during the war, when enormous quantities were required for planes, ships and mechanized ground equipment. Enemy oil supplies were constantly attacked, and it is known that shortage of fuel was an important factor in the grounding of the Luftwaffe and the ultimate defeat of Germany. In Canada, the war brought about extensive development of the Fort Norman oil fields in the Northwest Territories. This area was the scene of the Canol project, which was the largest defence undertaking carried out by the Canadian government. By means of this gigantic project, oil production in the Fort Norman area was greatly increased, and this supply was used by the armed forces and on the Alaska Highway. Within the British Empire, Canada is the second largest producer of oil, her output being exceeded only by that of Trinidad. In relation to world supplies, Canada's oil production at present not large, but development of the McMurray area may at some future time bring her to a leading place in this field.

Starts Orchid Farm

EX-Serviceman Believes It May Be First In Canada

R. W. Sodergren, an ex-serviceman, is solving his rehabilitation problem by establishing what he believes will be the first orchid farm in British Columbia, and possibly Canada.

He says that when the flowers start to bloom he plans to give a free bridal corsage to every girl who marries an overseas veteran, and a free wreath to the Canadian Legion for every veteran's funeral.

Mr. Sodergren is purchasing a 15-acre farm near Chilliwack and plans to plant 10 acres with orchid bulbs at intervals the year round. He said they can be grown outside and placed in greenhouses only during the last six years of their development.

Although Mr. Sodergren has never operated an orchid farm he has several years of experience working with tropical bulbs.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—I was recently discharged from the Armed Services. My priority suit certificate has been lost. Will I be able to obtain another priority certificate if I apply for one?

A—You will not be able to have your priority suit certificate replaced. Each discharged member of the Armed Services is entitled to only one certificate.

Q—Have price control regulations been lifted on the sale of cigarettes?

A—Yes, price control regulations have been suspended on the sale of cigarettes.

Q—May I use my canning sugar coupons to buy preserves?

A—The first five pounds of canning sugar may be purchased on and after May 2nd. These coupons may also be used for the purchase of jam, jelly, marmalade, honey, marshmallows or any other product which may be purchased with the ordinary "S" sugar-preserves coupons. Sugar-preserves coupons $8 to $12 become valid on May 2nd to cover the purchase of the additional five pounds of canning sugar or other preserves.

Q—When do the butter coupons become valid in the month of May?

A—Butter coupons become valid on May 2nd, May 16 and May 23. Each coupon is good for half a pound of butter.

Answer To Last Week's Puzzle

DAIRYING IN WEST

Shift In Production Gave Prairie Provinces Larger Expansion

A notable feature of the dairy situation in Canada is the shift in production which has given western Canada a larger share of the expansion in dairying enterprises. In 1920, Ontario and Quebec contributed approximately 67 per cent. of the total milk production of the Dominion; the Prairie provinces produced 22 per cent. of the total milk supply, while the Maritimes and British Columbia shared to the extent of nine per cent., respectively. In 1925 increases recorded in western Canada the Prairie provinces contributed 26 per cent. and British Columbia 2.5 per cent., whereas the production of Ontario and Quebec fell to 63 per cent. and the Maritimes to 8 per cent. A further shift in favor of the Prairie provinces was recorded in 1942, and by 1944 Ontario and Quebec were supplying only 60 per cent. of the milk production while the Prairie provinces produced 30 per cent., the remaining 10 per cent. being divided between the Maritimes and British Columbia in the relationship of approximately six to four.—Brandon Sun.

Wrong Impression

Visitors See Food Situation In Britain From Good Hotels

British housewives complain that official hospitality to overseas visitors gives an inaccurate impression of food conditions in Britain.

They point out that the food situation, seen through the menu of a grill room, does not look so grim as it does to the housewife.

"Many people from abroad would get a shock if they had to live on rations as we do," said Mrs. Emily Hill, a restaurant waitress, widowed by the war and the mother of four children.

"These big wigs from the United States and the Dominion spend most of their time being entertained and live in great hotels. Then they go home and say conditions in Britain are better than they had expected."

Mrs. Hill said she believed overseas countries should send typical housewives to Britain and arrange for them to live under the same conditions as the British housewife.

"If that were done, our plight would be better understood abroad," she said.

A National Holiday

Egyptians Of Every Faith Observe Shuf-The-Breeze Day

April 22 is Shuf-el-Nessim or Shuf-The-Breeze Day in Egypt, and most of the 19,000,000 dwellers along the Nile always rise near dawn to get in a few early sniffs to ward off the coming summer's languor. Egyptians believe there is nothing like a few breaths of the departing spring air to keep away the hot summer's mid-afternoon drowsiness.

It is one of the national holidays celebrated alike by Moslems, Christians and Jews. Originally, it was a Coptic feast and it falls on the Monday after the Greek Orthodox Easter. The day is spent traditionally in picnicking. Those who can move out into the countryside. The less fortunate jam into the parks of cities and towns.

Lumber Cut

Canada's Lumber Cut Is Likely To Set A Record

Canada's lumber cut is likely to reach the record figure of 5,000,000,000 feet this year, an increase of 100,000,000 feet over the 1945 cut, Reconstruction Department officials predicted.

"Barring labor difficulties there will be enough lumber to keep up with supplies of other building materials," said an official.

The early spring break-up this year resulted in some lumber being left in the woods but this was more than offset by the heavy cut left by the abnormally early spring in 1945. That wood was brought out at the start of the present timber season.

Kate: "I can't keep him quiet, Madam, unless I let him make a noise."

Husband: "Come back for something you've forgotten, as usual!"

Wife (brightly): "No, I've come back for something I've remembered."

Boss: (to office boy)—You're sacked.

Office Boy: "What for, sir? I've done nothing."

Boss: Exactly—that's why you're sacked.

Father: "Your teacher says he can't teach you anything, Bill."

Bill: "I always knew he was no good."

Switzerland has emerged from the war a spotless land flowing with milk and honey.

PROSPECTS ARE DIMMED FOR ANY SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTION IN TAXATION IN THE BUDGET

OTTAWA.—Failure of the Dominion-provincial conference to reach an agreement on financial matters has dimmed the prospects of any substantial reductions in taxation in the federal budget, the preparation and make-up of which had hinged on the outcome of the discussions.

With the conference concluded, even though in a welter of disagreement, the way now is open for preparation of the budget and it likely will be brought down towards the month-end.

Finance Minister Islay told the commons Friday, a bare hour or so before the conference adjourned indefinitely, he would "push forward as rapidly as possible" with work on the budget as soon as the discussions were concluded. He was not able, however, to forecast when the budget could be expected.

Before the conference opened Mr. Islay had been on record as saying the reductions in personal and corporation taxes in the budget depended to a large degree on whether the Dominion and the provinces agreed on priority in the various taxation fields.

Despite the failure of the conference to pave the way for substantial reductions, it is considered likely that the budget might contain some adjustments aimed at easing the tax burden on the small wage-earners, perhaps by increasing the amount on exemption—at present at $650 yearly for single persons and $1,200 yearly for married.

Postmaster-General Bertrand suggested in the commons at the last session that domestic postal rates might be reduced and it was considered possible the budget might disclose the reduction or removal of one-cent war tax imposed on domestic letter rates during the conflict.

NEW ORGANIZATION

To Give Training In The Gem-Setting Trade

VICTORIA.—Plans for a $100,000 endowment of a new organization known as the Canadian Jewellers Institute, were revealed by Robert E. Day of Toronto, president of the Canadian Jewellers' Association.

The new institute is planned to give training in silversmithing, watchmaking and gem-setting in Canada instead of, as hitherto, turning to Europe for trained craftsmen in these lines.

The institute will grant certificates to qualified men in all parts of Canada, and a nation-wide board of examiners is being appointed to bring this program of certification within reach of every working craftsman. The institute's first goal is to offer the certificate program to war veterans now training under government rehabilitation, Mr. Day said.

BOYCOTT SERIOUS

Is Not Helping Business Of Arab Merchants In Palestine

JERUSALEM.—The Arab boycott of Jewish goods in Palestine is not being fully observed but it is reported here that already it has hounded at least two Arab merchants to death.

The boycott was started in January as an economic weapon against Zionism. The main difficulty in enforcing it is that there are not enough Arab manufactured goods available and an Arab shopkeeper who wants to stay in business must deal with the well-stocked warehouses in the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

FARM ORGANIZATIONS MEET TO DRAFT A PROGRAM TO BRING ABOUT PARITY PRICES

CALGARY.—Representatives of the "Big Three" farm organizations met here to draft a program of action to bring about parity prices.

The leaders were: George Church, president of the United Farmers of Alberta; Carl Stimpfle, president of the Alberta Farmers' Union; Lew Hutchinson, president of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture; and J. R. McFall, secretary of the federation. (These three organizations are now in process of amalgamation; their most recent annual conventions having urged the move.)

The threat of inflation is considered by farmers a real and serious menace, Mr. McFall said after the meeting. "We are taking a very strong stand on this question," he said, "we know that the farmers and the wage-earners will be the first to suffer from its effects. We wish the government had held the price line on machinery and other things the farmer has to buy. But it didn't. Now the only possible course of proper action is to establish a new

Field Marshal Montgomery Addresses Troops In Occupation Zone

BRITISH ARMY OF THE RHINE HEADQUARTERS.—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery in a farewell message to the troops under his command recounted their achievements in fighting in western Europe and their role in the control of Germany, describing them as "a magnificent team."

Lord Montgomery is relinquishing his command of the British occupation zone in Germany to become chief of the Imperial general staff.

"When I think back to the day I took over the 21st army group in January, 1944, at that time getting ready to start its great adventure, I feel amazed at what has been achieved," Lord Montgomery's message said.

"Sailors, soldiers, airmen, civilians, men and women, we have all been in this business together. I would like to thank each one of you for the support you have given me in my task."

"The great results that have been achieved have been due to the united effort of a magnificent team, of which I think I can justly say each one of us can be proud to have been a member."

"And so with a sad heart I say goodbye, wishing all of you on your return to England, whether it be now or later, the happy home you deserve."

RADIO STATIONS

List Of 64 Canadian Stations Who Have Applied For Special Permits

OTTAWA.—A return tabled in the commons gave a list of 64 Canadian radio stations which had applied for frequency modulation permits, 18 for television permits and 19 for facsimile reproduction permits.

The information disclosed that no licenses have been granted in these three categories.

CKCK and CKRM, Regina, and CHAB, Moose Jaw, are among these stations which have applied for frequency modulation permits, television permits and facsimile permits.

ACCEPTS HOSPITAL

Canadian Red Cross Building Handed Over To British Authorities

TAPLOW, Buckinghamshire, England.—Viscount Bennett, former prime minister of Canada, handed over the Canadian Red Cross hospital at nearby Cliveden, estate of Lord and Lady Astor, to British authorities to be used as a hospital for children.

Health Minister Bevan accepted the hospital, which during the war cared for 25,068 military patients.

FARM CONFERENCE

Manitoba Minister Of Agriculture Is Going To London

WINNIPEG.—Hon. D. L. Campbell, Manitoba minister of agriculture will attend the international conference of farm organizations in London May 21, describing himself as "a missionary for two-way trade."

Mr. Campbell will attend the conference unofficially and then make a study of the food situation in Denmark, Holland, Belgium, France, Sweden and Switzerland.

level for everything, one as low as possible, and bring the price of grain, livestock and other farm produce up to it."

Mr. McFall said the farm groups propose to communicate with federations of agriculture in other provinces, particularly in Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, find out what they are thinking and planning, and then fall in with the demand of the Ontario federation for a parliamentary investigation into the relative position of farm prices.

"If that doesn't get results," said Mr. McFall, "we may send a delegation to Ottawa to press for the investigation."

One of the most serious complaints of the farmers is the present tax policy, he said. In spite of high taxation most farmers worked long hours of overtime during the war mainly out of patriotism. Now the war is over, the farmers are tired and short of help, and the tax penalty for working overtime still exists. Therefore hog producers and many others are slackening off in spite of critical shortage of food.

MOTHER'S DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY NEW MOTHERS—Hollywood's newest mothers will be among the proudest to observe Mother's Day on Sunday, May 12. WHEAT EXPORTS

May Exceed 310,000,000 Bushels For The Current Crop Year

OTTAWA.—The Dominion bureau of statistics said it was expected Canada's exports of wheat and wheat flour might exceed 310,000,000 bushels for the current crop year.

In its monthly summary of the world wheat situation, the bureau said Canada's below-average 1945 crop, together with the high rate of exports maintained through the first eight months of the crop year, had reduced total stocks of wheat at March 31 to 213,400,000 bushels from 501,200,000 bushels at the same date last year.

This figure included farm-held stocks of 106,000,000 bushels, out of which must come seed for the 1946 crop and whatever amounts may be required for livestock and poultry feed during the remaining third of the crop year.

In spite of current low stocks, it is anticipated that Canada's exports of wheat and flour in terms of wheat will reach, and perhaps exceed, the figure of 340,000,000 bushels for the crop year," the bureau said.

WANTS TO SEE EUROPE

DOVER, England.—An 18-year-old boy who was stated to be so anxious to see conditions in Europe that he was going to make a second attempt to row across the channel, was before the Dover magistrates recently on a charge of attempting to leave the United Kingdom by sea without the permission of immigration authorities.

PARIS

The four-power foreign ministers' conference suspended formal sessions indefinitely, a qualified American source said, limiting itself to small, informal meetings such as those adapted to speed the work of the Big Three Moscow conference last December.

There was no indication of any breakdown in the negotiations. The decision, this source said, came as Foreign Minister George Bidault of France expressed dissatisfaction with the progress in writing European peace treaties. The other three foreign ministers were said to have expressed similar dissatisfaction.

Mr. Bidault proposed the swift informal meetings, in which attendance will be limited. Instead of the 15 advisers and interpreter permitted each of the negotiators in the formal meetings only two advisers and one interpreter will attend. The sessions will be held in the office of whatever chief of delegation is presiding for the day.

The foreign ministers decided to award the string of Dalmatian islands along the eastern coast of the Adriatic sea to Yugoslavia, British sources said, but with the stipulation that the islands must be demilitarized.

Under this decision Yugoslavia would be given the barren Italian island of Pelagosa off Italy's south-east coast. Italy was guaranteed fishing rights around the island, now occupied only as a lighthouse.

Italy was permitted to keep the nearby island of Pianosa, which also must be demilitarized, these sources said.

Fears Blamed For Retarding Return Of Peace

WASHINGTON.—Four paralyzing fears that Germany would again become a great war-making power were blamed by United States officials for retarding return of real peace to Europe.

They were given as among the basic, inside reasons why Secretary of State Byrnes proposed his 25-year, big-four agreement for the control of Germany at the Paris foreign ministers conference.

The four fears, according to the analysis of Byrnes' advisers, are:

1. Fear of most European countries that United States will again withdraw from Europe, leaving enforcement of peace terms on Germany up to the Europeans themselves.

2. Fear by the Russians that the British would try to build a powerful new German nation against the Soviet Union. American officials said this had been reflected in various charges leveled by Moscow against British policies in Germany.

3. Fear by the British that the Russians would gain control of Germany, or much of it through communism or otherwise, and use it to spread Soviet influence in western Europe.

4. Fear by France of any sort of German power revival. The main aim of French foreign policy is to gain security from attack by Germany. A specific proposal along this line is France's request that the Ruhr and the Rhineland be taken away from Germany and put under French or international control.

ON HUNGER STRIKE

Jewish Residents Of Landsberg Protest Against Arrest Of Comrades

LANDSBERG, Germany.—Four thousand Jewish residents of the Landsberg displaced persons camp went on a hunger strike, shouting "Down with Americans" in an uproarious dispute with occupation troops.

Under the eyes of American machine-gunners mounding guard, approximately 1,000 Jews marched to the camp gates shouting protests against the arrest of 20 comrades following a riot at the camp.

"American anti-Semitism is worse than German anti-Semitism," they shouted. "American democracy is no better than Nazis."

Some American soldiers on trucks answered the throng with derisive yells.

"All 4,000 of us will not work or eat until our 20 comrades are released from Landsberg prison, where Hitler wrote Mein Kampf," a spokesman for the camp residents said.

THEATRE NOTES

AT PALACE SATURDAY AND MONDAY

A modern story of mutiny on the high seas, the mysterious deaths of a captain and his crew, a mission of vengeance and a thrilling romance is unfolded in RKO Radio's "Johnny Angel," starring George Raft, Claire Trevor and Signe Hasso.

Captain Johnny Angel undertakes to run to earth the murderers of his father, killed by mutineers while carrying five million dollars in gold belonging to the Free

French. His efforts are involved with the rivalry of two women for his affections.

From a French girl, Paulette, who was a stowaway on his father's ship, he learns that the gold was transferred to a yacht belonging to a night-club owner, Sam Jewell. Meanwhile, Johnny's boss, Gustafson, whose wife Lilah was an old flame of Johnny's discovers her involved with Jewell. With Paulette's help, Johnny finally cracks the mystery, avenges his father's death, restores the Free French gold and finds happiness with Paulette.

Don't for one minute misconstrue the title of the picture coming next Saturday to Cole's theatre. "The Blue Dahlia" is not, by any stretch of the imagination, anything so dignified as a flower show, or the unveiling of a horticulturist's latest hybrid. Actually, from all reports, this Paramount production of Raymond Chandler's first mystery-shocker to be written expressly for the screen, is an action-packed, smoothly, suspenseful murder thriller that provides an excellent vehicle for its three stars. Alan Ladd, Veronica Lake and William Bendix.

Ladd is said to be at his sluggish best in the role of the returning war veteran who finds his wife addicted to alcohol, and running around with the sinister owner of the "Blue Dahlia" night club. Disgusted and disillusioned, he walks out on her and into the arms of Veronica Lake, who later turns out to be the estranged wife of the night-spot owner. Ladd's wife is found shot to death, and the plot races bruisingly through his efforts to clear his name and that of his war buddy, William Bendix.

Wm. Gardiner Passed Away At Calgary, Friday

Resided in Coleman For Few Years; Funeral Held On Monday Afternoon.

The death occurred at Col. Belcher hospital on Friday, May 3, of William Gardiner, 66.

Born at Muiravonshire, Stirlingshire, Scotland, he grew into young manhood at Standburn, Ayrshire, and entered the mines in that district.

He served in the First Great war from 1914-18 in the Argyll and Southern Highlanders and served several years on the Continent.

In 1921, with his wife and family, he came to Canada making his home at Lethbridge where he remained for many years. His wife died in Lethbridge on or about 1933.

He worked in Coleman for a short period in 1924 before returning to Lethbridge and came back here again in the late thirties. From Coleman he went to Vancouver where he resided for a year and then went to Calgary.

Surviving are his son, Andrew, of Vancouver, and a daughter, Mrs. Robert Stewart, of Ayr, and two grandchildren. Also three sisters, Mrs. M. Wilson, of Victoria, and two sisters in Scotland. A brother Alex. resides in Lethbridge.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon from Leyden's funeral home, Calgary.

Attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gardiner, of Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. M. Wilson, of Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Gardiner, of Lethbridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wilson, as well as a number of Calgary friends.

Every FATHER

...should answer these questions:

"How much are my savings really WORTH?" The cash value of your savings is not what counts most. What is important is the amount of continuous income they would provide, if your wife and children were left without other means of support. In most cases ordinary savings can't provide enough! That is why you need life insurance ... "Is it important WHICH life insurance company I choose?" It is! Life insurance companies are most alike as to policies and rates, but actual long-term results vary widely. We invite you to compare The Mutual Life of Canada's record with that of any other company. Evidence of the satisfaction of Mutual Life policyholders is furnished by the fact that whole families and succeeding generations have entrusted their life insurance programs exclusively to The Mutual Life, and each year approximately 35% of its new business comes from policyholders. Why Anglicans must raise $4,300,000

IN ORDER to strengthen the arm of the Church and enable it to meet the challenge of postwar needs with intensified effort at home and abroad, members of the Church of England in Canada are asked to provide the sum of $4,300,000.

This money is urgently needed to carry on the Church's educational and social work in Canada.

To meet Diocesan and general synod needs as well as the expenses of organization and administration.

To carry on missionary work at home and abroad, to assist the Mother Church in England and the Churches of Europe in their work of rehabilitation.

To strengthen the pension fund for missionary clergy.

The money will be allotted in the following way:

Pension Fund - - - - -	$1,300,000
Missionary Work - - - - -	1,400,000
Educational Work - - - - -	100,000
Social Work - - - - -	55,000
Church in Britain - - - - -	100,000
Churches in Europe - - - - -	90,000
General Synod Administration - - - - -	205,000
Extension of Church House - - - - -	50,000
Diocesan Needs - - - - -	800,000
Organization and Administration - - - - -	200,000

Spiritual re-dedication must bear fruit in self-sacrificing practical endeavour if the Church is to meet its Christian obligations.

Be prepared to lend YOUR support to the limit of your ability when the Visitor calls during the week of May 12th to 19th, or mail your offering to your Diocesan Headquarters.

Council Still Trying to Obtain A Dentist

Parallel Parking By-Law Held Over Till Next Meeting.

Very little business was on the agenda at the regular meeting of the council on Monday evening. Present Mayor Abovsky, Councilors Dutil, Jenkins and Ramsay.

Ashman Wm. Martland and son Charles were present to obtain names of ratepayers who have been complaining about non-removal of ashes at least once weekly. Council refused to reveal the names but stated that in future those complaining would have to record their name at the town office.

Mr. Martland told of a number of householders taking garden debris, dumping it in ash containers and then covering it with ashes. Council gave him sanction, in cases such as this, to use his own discretion in asking an additional charge from those persons. Mr. Martland also asked council's aid in making it compulsory for all householders to own ash containers instead of the present prevailing practice of dumping ashes on the ground. It was agreed that those guilty of this practice be first asked by Mr. Martland to secure a container. If they refuse then the council will step in and enforce the by-law which makes it compulsory to have ash containers.

May 13 to 18 were the dates set for the "Clean-Up Week" in town. All householders are being asked to clean up back yards and back alleys and burn all trash. A police inspection will be made following the end of the campaign.

The parallel by-law scheduled to be brought in at this meeting was not ready for presentation and will, of necessity, be presented at the next meeting.

A letter was received from the Alberta Dental Clinic. It stated that those dentists being discharged from the services at the present time were men who had practices prior to the war and that they were returning to those practices. They could see little hope for Coleman at the present time as the younger men were still being retained in the services. Council has secured the names of two young dentists and will approach both, the first one to say "yes" being the one that will be urged to pack his grip for Coleman.

Fire Chief Wm. Antle submitted his fire report for the months of March, April, and the first week in May. There were eight practices at a cost in wages of $57.50. Council expressed approval in the manner the firefighters were turning out to practices. In order that more freedom be given the firefighters during the summer months, June to September, it was agreed that only two practices monthly be held. This would allow the firefighters two free Sundays to enjoy with their families should they wish to leave town instead of having to remain at home for fire practice. Four practices a month will continue in the fall, a 5 gallon tank and rubber matting for the fire truck was also ordered.

The monthly police report was also submitted by Chief Antle. It revealed that dog owners were particularly slow this year and that it appears necessary that some prosecutions take place.

Second And Final Banquet To Be Given Ex-Servicemen

Those Men Who Have Returned Following The First Banquet Are Being Invited To Attend.

The Entertainment committee of the Coleman's Reception & Rehabilitation Committee have made plans to stage the second and final banquet to welcome home those boys and girls who have arrived from overseas and various parts of the Dominion since the first banquet was staged last year.

The banquet, concert and dance will be held in the Community hall on Friday, May 31, with committee chairman James Lowe presiding.

Overseas personnel and general service personnel, who did not attend the first banquet are asked to record their names with Ray Steurbaut, steward at the Legion club, on or before May 21. Only those names listed will be invited to the banquet, concert and dance.

The first banquet was an outstanding success and it is planned to follow practically along the same lines so that those who are in attendance are assured of a wonderful evening's banquet and entertainment.

Peculiar Condition

Arctic Whitout Making Landmarks Invisible to Menace To Airman

WASHINGTON. — "Arctic Whitout," a far-northern freak that caused a near-collision between an airplane and a reindeer, has been nominated for addition to the vocabulary of weather men and fliers.

Leonard J. C. Hedine of the United States Weather Bureau at Winnipeg, Manitoba, described the "Arctic Whitout," defining it as a condition of the snow country where all visible land features are camouflaged, "blending earth and sky so that the horizon and all landmarks are indistinguishable."

He reported in the bulletin of the American Meteorological Society that it's a peculiar condition occurring in Northwestern Alaska during late winter and early spring, and constitutes "a menace to airman."

A moderate snow cover in later winter, he says, can wipe out vision of all vegetation and ground marks in the large areas of treeless tundra through Western and Northern Alaska. And, when there's an over-cast sky of snowlike clouds, no shadows are cast by objects on the ground below.

"When 'Whitout' occurs," he said, "it is impossible to tell by a quick check from a plane whether or not the aircraft is upside down."

"Hills and mountains are blotted out. One pilot, who believed he was safe on his course, suddenly found himself in danger when a reindeer rose and sprang from in front of the plane."

World In A Mess

Recovery Needs A Truce Of God And Man, Says Winston Churchill

Winston Churchill called for a "breathing space" in the clash of the world politics to prevent "even harder trials than those we have so narrowly and painfully survived."

Churchill said that "forces and organizations and destinies" are driving peoples against one another, and the world needs for recovery "a blessed convalescence—a truce of God and man."

"The world is very ill," Churchill said. "Two fearful wars in our lifetime have torn the heart out of its grace and culture. Measureless injury has been done to much that the 19th century would have called Christian civilization."

"There must be a period of recovery. In many countries where even united effort would fall far short of what is needed, party strife and friction is fomented or machine-made fanatics rave at each other about their rival ideologies."

Observing that the once bitter enmity between the Scots and English was a thing of the past, Churchill continued:

"Now the unity of the British Isles and, indeed, of the Empire and of the entire English speaking world, is such as to make it inconceivable and to inure its being able to deliver its message of human pilgrimage in generation after generation, in sunlight or in storm, however the wind might blow."

Churchill said that mankind can not "in its present plight bear new shocks and quarrels without descending to altogether cruder and primordial forms."

Good Paint Job

Some Valuable Hints On How To Preserve Your Home

Be they farm buildings or town houses, a lot of structures are in need of paint this Spring; and chances are the majority of them will get their coatings of beauty and protection from their owners because of the continued shortage of professional painters in many parts of the country. The buildings won't suffer because of the so-called amateur touch, however, provided the amateur goes about the job in a professional way.

A good painter is distinguished by his attention to the details that the home owner often knows nothing about, or doesn't think about at the time of the paint job. Like a trained detective, the good painter knows where to look for trouble spots about the building and how to correct them.

The thing in which the non-professional painter is likely to fall down is in the lack of attention to danger signals which spell the entry of moisture into the building—a lack of attention which usually springs from a desire to cut out the preliminaries and get the paint brush swinging as quickly as possible.

Assuming then that you are acquainted with the fundamentals of how to paint, here are a few of the spots about the home or farm building which require a special look. They are listed in the interests of those who want their painting to be successful, long-lasting, and a good investment in time and money.

Sashes: Unless painted, water seeps into sashes, the wood swells, putty crumbles out, glass cracks and frames come apart. The good painter always gives a coat or two of protection to sash bottoms as well as more visible parts, to prevent the absorption of water from wet window sills.

Window Frames: Water often lodges on window sills, seeps into open joints to cause warping followed by shrinkage and paint breakdown. All cracks should be carefully filled with putty before the top coat of paint goes on.

Flashings: Flashings require painting the same as other parts of the house. Driving rains hunt out the smallest break of the metal when rust has opened the way. Attention to painting of such danger spots will help keep water outside the building and avoid trouble, inconvenience and repair bills.

Shutters: Shutters should be painted along all edges, tops and bottoms as well as on the body so that water cannot get into the wood and cause the paint breakdown so often seen on poorly kept shutters. When not in use, the shutters should be stored in a safe, dry place. The same rules apply, of course, to storm windows.

Dooms: Edges, tops and bottoms of doors should be kept water-tight with paint to prevent swelling, sticking or shrinking. A well-painted door is easier to keep clean, and adds distinction to the house.

Shingles: Regular painting with special shingle paint keeps wood shingles in good condition indefinitely, preventing warping, splitting and decay of the side of the house.

Screens: Should be well scrubbed to clean both wire and frames. The netting can be protected with well-thinned paint or varnish to minimize corrosion and to prevent rust-staining of the side of the house.

Porch: Porch floors get extremely hard service, and water drains slowly from them. Unless they are well-protected, sun tends to break water-soaked wood, causing warping and decay. Railings and pillars also need particular paint attention to prevent deterioration. All cracks should be puttied up before painting, particularly the openings which sometimes form at joints, and the paint should be worked carefully into the wood to present a smooth, unbroken, weather resisting surface.

Future In The Air

Mention Made Of New Planes That Travel At Incredible Speeds

A British carrier plane, the Vampire, with a Goblin jet unit, has flown 540 miles an hour and the British jet-propelled Meteor 606 miles an hour. That is a near approach to the supersonic frontier—for sound, at sea level, travels only 760 miles an hour.

No doubt we shall pass that frontier, into atmospheric conditions which are virtually unexplored. A Lockheed engineer soberly predicts that jet planes will be flying at 2,500 miles an hour within five years. Such speeds will require revolutionary changes in jet turbines, new alloys to resist the tremendous temperatures they generate and new design in the plane itself.

The imagination bogs down trying to translate such flight into practical results it will have on our daily life. Yet even today we stand on the threshold of this uncharted future in the air. —New York Times.

FACTS ABOUT COSTA RICA

It is a small republic of Central America, between Panama and Nicaragua. Its area of about 23,000 square miles is rather less than that of Erie. It is a land of volcanic mountains with low-lying ground in the coastal regions. From Mont Irazu, 12,000 feet, both the Pacific Ocean and the Caribbean Sea as well as all Costa Rica can be seen.

The population of about 656,129 is more Spanish in character than that of any other Central American republic. The country became independent of Spain in 1821.

The name Costa Rica means "rich coast," and was given to the land because of the great fertility of its soil. The chief products are coffee, bananas, cacao, rice, maize, and sugar cane.

The Leaning Tower of Pisa is so far out of line that a weight lowered from the top edge would strike the ground approximately 15 feet from the base.

Remarkable Foresight

John Maynard Keynes Was A Great Economist

When John Maynard Keynes wrote his "Economic Consequences of the Peace" soon after the Great War he was scoffed at by both orthodox economists and politicians—particularly by those politicians who had made the peace he criticized. Versailles was the ultimate triumph of the Allied and Associated Powers; in it Wilson had incorporated his ideals and Lloyd George his moral fervour. Clemenceau, the Tiger of France, would have made an even harsher peace. Keynes told them they were all wrong, and his book became the controversial tract of the times.

It soon became apparent that Keynes had shown remarkable economic and political foresight. He had called the turn on many an economic and political event, and with the disaster of German inflation and the subsequent world depression, he became the man who had been so tragically right. Statesmen re-read his book for future guidance; economists began to examine his theories with new wisdom.

Keynes, of course, was not interested only in being right. Being right was for him a process of right thinking, of refusing to be taken in by the political slogans of the day or influenced by the hatreds engendered by the war. His role was to see the world and see it whole, and he went on with that task.

By 1942, when he was created Lord Keynes, he had become the British Treasury's chief advisor, his policies had influenced Roosevelt's New Deal, and governments everywhere looked to him for economic guidance. He continued to give it. No international monetary conference met without Lord Keynes as one of its principal figures. When Britain began loan negotiations with the United States he was one of the principal negotiators, and it was Lord Keynes who defended the loan proposals against severe criticism in the House of Lords.

His death was brought on by over-exhaustion. Only a few days ago he returned from the monetary conference at Savannah, Georgia, and was ordered to rest. But in the pursuit of his mission he had overtaxed his strength. He died a prophet with honour. —Montreal Star.

Will Be Built In Canada At The Malton Plant

Britain's newest and largest airliner, the Tudor II, is to be built in Canada at the Malton plant near Toronto, which produced many Lancaster and Lincoln bombers during the war, it was learned.

The plant has been tooling-up for many months in preparation for the task of producing the Tudor airliner, a modified version of the big Tudor plane of which five are being built at Malton for the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The civilian Tudor will accommodate 60 passengers on short flights and 40 day passengers or 22 night passengers on long-distance flights at cruising speeds between 200 and 250 miles an hour. A. V. Roe of Canada Ltd., is handling the Canadian end.

English Law Passed In 1360 Invoked Against Window Peeping

A law passed in 1360 was invoked against Robert Thompson, 35, charged with peeping in women's windows. He was bound over for 12 months under a statute which deals with those who "do night walking, eavesdropping and night spying, such as peeping through windows."

"Lots of things are said about the laws of England and some of them are out of date," said stipendiary J. R. MacDonald, "but sometimes an old law is very good."

"Here is a man brought up for spying through people's windows, a most disgusting habit. He is run in because he has broken a law which was made in 1360, or nearly 600 years ago a very good law."

Hydrogen peroxide, now on the "short" list, is not merely a bleach for milks' hair, but millions of pounds of it are used every year in industry. Although Canada is rich in barite, a non-metallic ore somewhat resembling marble, the blanc-fixe must be imported because of lack of processing plants in this country.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

THE CHOCOLATE BAR

By SYLVIA ENDLER

Copyright
Wheeler Newspaper Syndicate

LINDA stayed behind every afternoon to clean the boards for Mr. Rogers, whom she adored. Today it was after four when she half-hopped, half-skipped in a funny little motion all her own, soles and heels scraping against the stairs, she lattered along through the yard, deserted by the her chubby face puckered in thought, her thirteen-year-old rounded stomach protruding. That stomach was the despair of her mother who was too weary of cautioning vainly: "Pull your stomach in. Don't slouch so." But lately something strange was happening within her.

This strangeness did not stretch to heeding her mother's instructions or even to standing up straight, but she had suddenly become aware of her appearance, filled with a subtle desire (she herself did not understand) to attract. Up to last week this had been faint, nebulous. She and her group of which she was undisputed leader by virtue of great projects formulated, had gone their way, met at each other's homes for taffy pulls, gab sessions, schemes for avoiding homework, and glorious plans for a far-off future.

LAST week Miss Rogers had dropped a bombshell. The senior girls were expected to give a party to invite BOYS a delicious tremor ran through Linda. The gang met immediately after this startling announcement. They didn't know any boys. They all looked to Linda, that instigator of classic ideas. And Linda had found a way and today at the weekly meeting of the Five Furies she would divulge it.

It had burst upon her like a divine gift. As she always stayed her hand to clean the boards she usually went home alone and met the gang later. She always went by a roundabout route so that she could stop off at the candy store. This was a little store which her mother gave Linda a nickel, and every day after school, after much frowning she decided on a chocolate bar.

The consuming of this great treat brightened the way home. On her way to the store she passed a sandlot where a dozen boys could be seen playing baseball in good weather. Linda, intent, mouth watering for the chocolate, never stopped. But the faces, the voices, impressed themselves on her mind. For one thing, for instance, the tall blond pitcher with muscular tanned arms stood out—and she thought of him in the middle of a lesson, staring out of the window or before going to bed at night.

So the momentous idea had burst full-blown. The boys of the sandlot! True, there were more than five boys and only five Furies, but the boys could decide about that and perhaps the Furies could invite some fortunate girls to become honorary members for the occasion. Linda felt it was a wonderful idea—a coup d'état. They had had that word in History and Linda was not sure what it meant exactly, but she knew this was one.

She drifted along savoring her delicious thoughts, fingering the smooth shiny nickel in her pocket. She had decided not to buy any more chocolate bars. For one thing they were fattening, and according to the movie mags which the Five Furies devoured avidly—Linda's specifications were slightly on the plump side; and besides she was saving the money for a compact. She might even wear lipstick at the dance. In fact some girls her age did, but they were mostly goons anyway.

As she walked her thoughts carried her away. Linda was not a chubby little girl any more with scuffed shoes and scratched logs but a "woman of the world"—a spy nym, or an actress. She slinked across the dance floor, several high ranking officers following her, peaking, importuning. But Linda smiled a cool, secret smile and waved a languid, white-gloved hand.

"Excuse me," she said warily and took out a gorgeous, jewelled compact inscribed chastely from "H.R.H.—Duke of M—". The face that looked back at her was heavy-lidded, long-nosed, patrician, with just a tint of sophisticated boredom. All these receptions in one's home were really too tiresome. A tall, blond, tanned officer was making his way toward her through the throng, eagerly. "Linda!"

LINDA realized without even a start, so accustomed was she to transition to and from reverie, that she was opposite the sandlot. The boys were playing there as usual. The tall blond who bore a striking resemblance to the officer, was winding up for a pitch. She knew what she'd do. She'd go across and watch.

Her sudden presence must have

Sweet and cool in any Pipe

CANADA'S

distracted the pitcher, for the ball went wide and outside.

"G'wan," he said to her—and added "Fatty!"

Tears filled her eyes. It was not words so much, but the cold tone, the dismissal.

She started to walk quickly, her sturdy legs churning—one block, two, three. She came to the store. She pointed at a bar, any bar, and threw her nickel on the counter. The scuffed shoes sought the way home. Tires mingled with the bitterness, taste as sharp, white teeth bit into the solid slab. But the sweetness was not altogether of chocolate nor the saltiness of tears. It was the first, faint pang of growing up.

Will Compile A War History Of The Sappers

Compilation of a history of the Royal Canadian Engineers in World War II, publication of a periodical devoted to activities of the R.C.E., and printing of a directory of all living sappers are the triple projects being undertaken by the Royal Canadian School of Military Engineering at Chilliwack, B.C.

To assist in the work, officials of the School are asking all men who served in the R.C.E. to communicate with them, giving any anecdotes in connection with their army careers which might add interest to the history.

It is also requested that sappers send names addresses and occupations to the School so that an up-to-date directory may be maintained. The directory will serve as a communicating link between all sappers, allowing them to keep in touch with former comrades-in-arms.

SOIL FOR TOMORROW

New Colour Film To Be Shown On Rural Circuits

You may have thought dust storms were things to keep away from, but a National Film Board producer, Lawrence Cherry, spent nearly a week chasing them. In the Lethbridge area he was in the middle of one that lasted nearly an hour. When the storm lifted his camera and his eyes were full of dust—but he had pictures which vividly described these storms at their worst. As scenes from the NFB's production "Soil for Tomorrow" these pictures represent the prairies during the dry thirties.

The troubles of the unit in making this film did not end, however, with "shooting" the dust storm. They needed scenes of prairie farming thirty or forty years ago. Old machines, some manufactured as early as 1912, were unearthed and put in running order by engineers of the Experimental Farm at Swift Current. Many older prairie residents watched with interest while a pioneer gas tractor, a separator and a straw were used to harvest wheat once again. This harvesting, of course, involved another problem: men who were familiar with the machines had to be located, so that the threatening sequences could be re-staged.

Another headache for the cameramen was the filming of scenes showing families moving from submarginal to better land. Actual scenes had to be reconstructed. In one case this meant shooting pictures at a family on a new irrigated farm, and packing everybody into cars for a 70-mile trip back to submarginal land and the old rundown farmstead, where more scenes were shot.

Problems such as these kept the film unit busy during the four months spent on location filming "Soil for Tomorrow". This colour film, produced by the National Film Board, describes drought conditions on the prairies during the 1930's, and methods taken to prevent soil erosion. It will soon be shown on the NFB's Rural Circuits.

Profitable Crop

Flax Brings $18,000,000 To Western Farmers

The Western Canada flax crop returned a gross revenue of $18,000,000 last year, according to a recent survey. The figure is impressive in showing not only what was done but what could be done with this crop on the Prairies. With the price raised 50¢ a bushel, now making a total of $3.25 a bushel, as of Aug. 1, the amount will undoubtedly be higher for 1946.

There can be no doubt that much more flax could be grown in Western Canada at a substantial profit to farmers—in fact a number of steady flax growers have been saying recently that they have found flax their best-paying crop. Unfortunately, from the point of view of these farmers, an "anti-flax" feeling has grown up among farmers in some sections—a feeling apparently arising out of unsatisfactory experience in the past.

OUR PRISON SYSTEMS

Post-War Planning For Law-Breakers Is Urgently Needed

The following article is from a recently published booklet by R. Gordon Burgoyne entitled "Some Tragic Defects in Our Canadian Court and Prison Systems".

Plans for the post-war period which we have now entered upon have been made for many things, almost everything, except for the handling of law-breakers, and up to the present moment no steps have been taken. The authorities seem to think that the very fact that we have our Courts, Prisons and Penitentiaries—well—that is enough.

The great increase we have had in juvenile delinquency should be warning enough for anyone, more judges have been appointed, the court staffs greatly increased, the Reformatories overcrowded, whole communities worried. A few years ago I had the honour of being Chairman of the Juvenile Court Committee in Montreal, and we had one judge and four probation officers, now we overwork three judges and over 20 probation officers. A good business record but a bad community record, to have a 45% increase in number of convictions since the beginning of the war, one year around 4,000 sentenced by the court and another 4,000 brought for advice and reprimand by parents and Child Welfare workers.

The juvenile delinquent is the breeding ground for many adult criminals. Countless men have told me when I have met them for the first time in prison, in connection with the question "Is this your first offense?" "O yes, except when I was a kid, I was in the Juvenile Court," as if that was nothing at all.

Much has been said and written about the juvenile, but the public should be better informed regarding the adult offender. Apart from the men detained now, there will be greater danger if some men, after their demobilization, are unable to readjust themselves, who through the strain of war, with nerves somewhat frayed, are unable to meet the keen competition of post-war life. Some will have domestic family troubles arising from long separation, as there were after the Great War, and from past experiences these are easily tempted to take the so called easy road of crime.

If in this post-war period there should be a prosperity boom, the prisons will not be so greatly taxed, but should things slip into another depression, then the situation will be serious. I do not want to be a pessimist but in my 24 years in voluntary prison work I have seen our prisons filled, then partly filled, and then filled again. Lewis E. Lawes, former warden of Sing Sing said recently in New York, "There must be jobs, and by jobs, I don't mean jobs that pay wages reduced to abnormally low levels. I mean jobs that will enable men to maintain a decent standard of living." Without these he predicted "there will be an upsurge in such crimes as robbery and burglary."

We have about 12,000 persons detained in Canada today with a total over of about 70,000 a year, 70,000 who have run foul of the law, and if you will do a little multiplication you will realize how serious that is with our population of 11 millions. Many firms will not take a man into their employ who has a criminal record, even if it has been but one small mistake. This is a very serious tendency, but there it is, and remember the man cannot be bonded. Apply this to the man who has fought for us, for world freedom, but who, before he enlisted had once been imprisoned.

The record is there, and unless there is a change of heart towards this man, he will be embittered, and now through his war experience a harder man, will take the attitude that Society is against him and will take the road to Revenge which leads to the house of Despair, and all you hear him say afterwards will be "So what?"

As Canadians we really should do some house cleaning, throwing away some of our old ideas that we must get our pound of flesh from the offender, but instead to remember that men are sent to prison as punishment, and not for punishment, not to be degraded beyond measure, but to be given a chance to reform and to be returned to the community decent and better citizens but we haven't got that far in Canada yet. The post-war period looks very serious with our obsolete methods of handling law-breakers, both in court and prison and on release. We will look into these problems in subsequent articles.

GARDEN NOTES

Wedding Made Easier

One good wedding early and regular cultivation weekly, will save a lot of backbreaking labor later on and produce a garden the neighbors will envy.

Before seeding give the soil a thorough cultivation. This will to prepare properly for seeds and plants. But the beginner will make a great mistake if he stops all cultivation once the seeds have germinated and the plants start growing. Then it will pay handsomely in fresh, tender vegetables and abundant bloom, if one makes a practice of quick going-over the garden with a light cultivator once a week until the garden is growing well. This will kill weeds, keep growth going and will conserve moisture. With constant cultivation it is possible to grow good vegetables almost in the driest weather and it is amazing how easily and quickly the job is performed where one does it regularly and the soil does not get a chance to bake and the weeds to really get established.

Common Mistakes

A common mistake of the inexperienced gardener is planting too soon and too deeply. A good general rule is never to plant deeper than three times the diameter of the seed. It is not necessary to take this too literally—the eye can judge diameters close enough. This means merely pressing fine seed into the soil, planting peas, beans and corn about an inch deep, less for melons and squash, and from six to eight inches for potatoes, dahlias and gladioli.

On the too-early score, the chief danger is running into frost and backward weather, as so many have done this year. In the spring in most parts of Canada one can sow and should continue to sow standard vegetables like carrots, beets, beans, etc., right up to mid-July, but one should not risk much seed in the ground before early May. This advice, of course, does not necessarily apply to Southern Ontario or parts of British Columbia. Speaking generally, there is little to be gained by planting seed in cold, damp soil. It is more liable to rot than to germinate, in which case one might as well reconcile oneself to planting again.

Late Hints

Stakes for tomatoes and tall flowers should be in position and driven home as soon as possible so that the roots will not be disturbed or damaged.

Melons, cucumbers and squash are best grown in hills. These may run up to three or four feet square. They should not be more than six inches above the surrounding ground. Best material to use is well-rotted manure or black soil from a swamp. This should be lightly mixed with the regular garden soil and then given a two-inch dressing of the same on top. Have at least two feet between hills.

Australian Magpie Uses Almost Everything To Build Its Nest

In the Australian Museum in Sydney is a black-backed magpie's nest made of wire junk. Twisted and woven by the tough powerful beak of this bird are pieces of fencing wire, copper and telegraph wire, bicycle spokes and chair springs. The nest weighs three pounds and is 20 inches across. It was discovered at Bradwood (N.S.W.). The bird which built the nest is not strictly a magpie but a shrike. Early settlers from Britain thought it resembled the English magpie. 3671

Miss Grace Pettifor returned home this week from Edmonton, where she has attended the Alberta university during the past term. George Pettifor has also arrived home. He is a member of the crew of Canada's large airplane carrier "The Warrior" which arrived in Halifax a few weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Adams and baby daughter, of Calgary, arrived at the week end to spend a few holidays here, guests of Mrs. Adams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Easton. This week Mr. and Mrs. Adams sr. arrived in Coleman by car and with Mr. and Mrs. J. Adams set out for Spokane where they will vacation for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. "Sonny" Richards, and James Thompson, of Bellevue, were guests of Mrs. J. McLean on Saturday last. Tom Duncan has just recently returned from California, where he spent the winter. Mr. Thompson, Tom's father-in-law who is 84 years of age, and who was also a pioneer resident of Fernie, is looking very fit for his age. —Ferne Free Press.

Wedding Bells

GREEN—VINCENT

St. Paul's United church, Coleman, was the setting for a wedding of wide interest on Friday, May 3, at 5 o'clock when Rev. Wm. Irwin, of Bellevue, united in marriage Margaret Henrietta, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Vincent, of Coleman, and Richard Stanley, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Green, of Calgary.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, entered the church to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, played on the organ by Mr. J. Emmerson.

The bride looked charming wearing a queen's blue dress-maker suit and white accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses which completed her ensemble.

Miss Florence Gerrie, of Calgary, attended the bride, and was attired in a salmon pink dressmaker suit, with pale blue accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

Mr. Stanley Green, of Calgary, supported the groom.

During the signing of the register Mrs. W. Pettifor sang "Oh, Promise Me," accompanied by Mr. J. Emmerson at the organ.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the IOOF hall to 60 guests, the hall being beautifully decorated with gladioli and ferns.

Mrs. Vincent, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Green, the groom's mother, received with the wedding party. The former chose for her daughter's wedding, a black crepe dress with a corsage of red carnations. Mrs. Green's ensemble was a navy blue tailored suit and a corsage of yellow carnations.

ROASTED IN THE WEST FOR WESTERN USERS

The bride's table was centred with a three tiered wedding cake embedded in yellow gladioli and flanked with cream tapers in silver holders.

Mrs. Mary Fraser supervised the servings assisted by Mrs. J. Price. Those serving included the Misses Shirley Hulbert, Lillian Root, Rosie Nimcan and Agnes Lowe.

Rev. Mr. Irwin proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded.

The happy couple left for Calgary, the bride choosing a rose dressmaker suit with white accessories for travelling.

The out-of-town guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Campbell, of Erickson, BC, Mr. and Mrs. R. Green, of Calgary, and Mrs. R. Brown, of Bellevue.

The happy couple will reside in Calgary where the groom is employed. The best wishes of the community is extended to them.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A miscellaneous shower was held on Wednesday evening, May 1, in honor of Miss Margaret Vincent, bride-elect. Hostesses included Mrs. R. Root, Mrs. J. Shields, Mrs. W. Hoggan, Mrs. J. Shuflete, Mrs. E. Krywolt and Mrs. H. Hulbert.

Whist winners were Mrs. R. Vincent, Mrs. W. Gate and Mrs. M. McGrath.

Following a dainty luncheon served by the hostesses to the sixty guests present, the honored guest was the recipient of numerous beautiful and useful gifts, for which she ably expressed her thanks.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks to the hostesses, Mrs. R. Root, Mrs. J. Shields, Mrs. W. Hoggan, Mrs. J. Shuflete, Mrs. E. Krywolt and Mrs. H. Hulbert, for sponsoring a miscellaneous shower in my behalf and to the many guests for their attendance and gifts.

Miss Margaret Vincent.

W. PETTIFOR SECURES MAPLE CREEK DEPOT

Walter Pettifor made a successful bid for the Maple Creek CPR depot in Saskatchewan and will succeed Charlie McKinnon, formerly of Coleman, who has secured the Banff depot.

Waller previously had been awarded the depot at Innisfail but has now dropped that post in favor of the much more important station at Maple Creek.

He and Mrs. Pettifor are still waiting until Mr. B. F. Dickson, of Bawlf, arrives to obtain housing accommodation and take over control of the local depot. He is expected here this week.

WARNING

Will the party who stole the bicycle in front of my property on Blaimore Road between the hour of 8:15 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, May 7, kindly return same before police action is taken.—Bill Bereska.
